

The diversity of news is vitally important to the survival of democracy and maintaining that diversity is the FCC's most important job. Today, 5 companies control 90% of our news. It is vital that the FCC prevent other voices from disappearing from the airwaves forever.